

RageQuit Forums > Applications > Application Archives > Forsaken World ApplicationsView New Content

Toggle shoutbox The RageCage

Page 1 of 1

[FW] Application - Noblesse

Keripo

Posted 04 October 2010 - 01:37 AM

FW Forum Name: noblesse (have not posted yet on the official FW forums though, just lurking atm)
Expected Class: Marksman, most likely Focus branch (assuming FW's PvP system is based on spike damage)
Age: 20
Location: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (UPenn \(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/University\_of\_Pennsylvania\))
MSN: k.darktiger@gmail.com (<mailto:k.darktiger@gmail.com>)
Mic: yes
Former Games: none
Former RQ Games: Perfect World International (LC and Harshlands) - my first MMORPG

References:

None unfortunately. I installed RQ's own custom Mumble client and I talked a bit with Febronia, but thats about it. If any current RQ member is willing to chat more and potentially become a reference, I'd be glad to.

On PWI-LC I knew some RQ players but not on a personal enough level. My PWI-LC name was Moonlite - a lowbie lvl 80 PvE cleric who didn't PK (from YingYang/Aurora and later Integrity but left after drama). My PWI-HL name was Desiree, a very PvP-active lvl 100 venomancer from Crimson/Kylin (top factions during their time). I come to RQ seeking what I hope to be my first real gaming clan.

Interest:

I haven't yet looked much into other Forsaken World guilds yet but when I made the concrete decision of switching over to FW when open beta starts, I thought that I should check out the RQ branch here first.

RageQuit was ironically what got me into PvP. When I played PWI-LC, I was on the receiving end of RQ (our faction leader, CutieEyes, did something dumb and got us KOS'd). While I was pure PvE on that server (and knew nothing about PvP). I resented RQ for the scrubs that enjoyed doing nothing but camping our lowbies. I went as far as, with some other random archer named Solarslayer (or something like that), arranging the political alliances that ultimately resulted in the formation of the faction "Integrity" purely with the sole purpose of TWing against RQ. Only then did I actually get exposed to the other, more "organized" side of RQ - discovering their seriousness in organized PvP and the relatively high level of coordination. While I continued fighting against RQ (or at least until I left the faction due to ridiculous internal drama that I could not stand listening to/seeing in faction chat every day), I admired the other half of RQ that was organized and really knew how to PK outside of camping lowbies.

When PWI-HL started, I forced myself to learn PvP. Not because I wanted to follow those notorious "lowbie-camping" footsteps, but because I wanted to prevent that scrub side of RQ from appearing on that server. I've been PvPing since week one of the server (along side, of course, all that grinding - PvE to PvP) and am one of the most active PvPers there, somewhat known for cleaning up the pompous lvl 90+ red names camping lvl 30 areas. For me, PvP = real fight between two players/sides with the intent of PKing each other, not shameless ganks or zerg-fests. I know I cannot compare to the original PWI-LC legends, but I do my best to keep the PvP scene alive, even if I live in a carebear PvE faction that would rather lose their charms to mobs than other players.

Deciding to come into Forsaken World, I realized that unlike the last two PWI servers I've been on, if I wish to pursue the PvP lifestyle, I need a strong, experienced clan to be my backbone. A clan which not only helps encourage/partake in PvP action but also actively pushes it to the next level. I will be playing FW with the "grind-til-endgame-for-PvP" mentality and, from what I've seen in PWI-LC, RQ's more hardcore PvPers follow that as well. It may seem ironic that I'm interested in joining the faction which I started off hating in my very first MMO, but RQ does still fit the bill when it comes to serious PvP-business (not to mention the no-drama policy) and has always been high in my books in terms of respect. I started off learning how to PK by reading through mystic's old PvP guide \(http://pwi-forum.perfectworld.com/showthread.php?t=3661\) and continued on to eventually completing my own detailed veno PvP guide \(http://pwi-forum.perfectworld.com/showthread.php?t=841222\). Yes, there's the possibility of FW's RQ deteriorating into a scrub "we camp lowbies all day and don't actually recruit PvPers with real skill" faction, but I'm hoping that won't happen or can be stopped early (if it does though, I'll be going back to the "other side" - against RQ). I live to KOS and PKK.

Last but not least, I enjoy making TW videos. Due to the lack of PvP action on PWI currently, I barely have any PvP videos, but in a PvP-oriented faction like RQ, I'm sure I'll be loaded with FRAPS-worthy material. Here's my PWI-HL TW videos forum link:

(<http://pwi-forum.perfectworld.com/showthread.php?t=323982>) <http://pwi-forum.per...world.com/showt>
(<http://pwi-forum.perfectworld.com/showt>) ... p?t=323982 (here's a link \(http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jj-e3E\_m0DU&fmt=22\) to one of the latest)

~Keripo (IGN will probably be Noblesse)

---

Mystic

Posted 04 October 2010 - 02:18 AM

Keripo said:

FW Forum Name: noblesse (have not posted yet on the official FW forums though, just lurking atm)
Expected Class: Marksman, most likely Focus branch (assuming FW's PvP system is based on spike damage)
Age: 20
Location: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (UPenn \(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/University\_of\_Pennsylvania\))
MSN: k.darktiger@gmail.com (<mailto:k.darktiger@gmail.com>)
Mic: yes
Former Games: none
Former RQ Games: Perfect World International (LC and Harshlands) - my first MMORPG

References:

None unfortunately. I installed RQ's own custom Mumble client and I talked a bit with Febronia, but thats about it. If any current RQ member is willing to chat more and potentially become a reference, I'd be glad to.

On PWI-LC I knew some RQ players but not on a personal enough level. My PWI-LC name was Moonlite - a lowbie lvl 80 PvE cleric who didn't PK (from YingYang/Aurora and later Integrity but left after drama). My PWI-HL name was Desiree, a very PvP-active lvl 100 venomancer from Crimson/Kylin (top factions during their time). I come to RQ seeking what I hope to be my first real gaming clan.

Interest:

I haven't yet looked much into other Forsaken World guilds yet but when I made the concrete decision of switching over to FW when open beta starts, I thought that I should check out the RQ branch here first.

RageQuit was ironically what got me into PvP. When I played PWI-LC, I was on the receiving end of RQ (our faction leader, CutieEyes, did something dumb and got us KOS'd). While I was pure PvE on that server (and knew nothing about PvP). I resented RQ for the scrubs that enjoyed doing nothing but camping our lowbies. I went as far as, with some other random archer named Solarslayer (or something like that), arranging the political alliances that ultimately resulted in the formation of the faction "Integrity" purely with the sole purpose of TWing against RQ. Only then did I actually get exposed to the other, more "organized" side of RQ - discovering their seriousness in organized PvP and the relatively high level of coordination. While I continued fighting against RQ (or at least until I left the faction due to ridiculous internal drama that I could not stand listening to/seeing in faction chat every day), I admired the other half of RQ that was organized and really knew how to PK outside of camping lowbies.

When PWI-HL started, I forced myself to learn PvP. Not because I wanted to follow those notorious "lowbie-camping" footsteps, but because I wanted to prevent that scrub side of RQ from appearing on that server. I've been PvPing since week one of the server (along side, of course, all that grinding - PvE to PvP) and am one of the most active PvPers there, somewhat known for cleaning up the pompous lvl 90+ red names camping lvl 30 areas. For me, PvP = real fight between two players/sides with the intent of PKing each other, not shameless ganks or zerg-fests. I know I cannot compare to the original PWI-LC legends, but I do my best to keep the PvP scene alive, even if I live in a carebear PvE faction that would rather lose their charms to mobs than other players.

Deciding to come into Forsaken World, I realized that unlike the last two PWI servers I've been on, if I wish to pursue the PvP lifestyle, I need a strong, experienced clan to be my backbone. A clan which not only helps encourage/partake in PvP action but also actively pushes it to the next level. I will be playing FW with the "grind-til-endgame-for-PvP" mentality and, from what I've seen in PWI-LC, RQ's more hardcore PvPers follow that as well. It may seem ironic that I'm interested in joining the faction which I started off hating in my very first MMO, but RQ does still fit the bill when it comes to serious PvP-business (not to mention the no-drama policy) and has always been high in my books in terms of respect. I started off learning how to PK by reading through mystic's old PvP guide \(http://pwi-forum.perfectworld.com/showthread.php?t=3661\) and continued on to eventually completing my own detailed veno PvP guide \(http://pwi-forum.perfectworld.com/showthread.php?t=841222\). Yes, there's the possibility of FW's RQ deteriorating into a scrub "we camp lowbies all day and don't actually recruit PvPers with real skill" faction, but I'm hoping that won't happen or can be stopped early (if it does though, I'll be going back to the "other side" - against RQ). I live to KOS and PKK.

Last but not least, I enjoy making TW videos. Due to the lack of PvP action on PWI currently, I barely have any PvP videos, but in a PvP-oriented faction like RQ, I'm sure I'll be loaded with FRAPS-worthy material. Here's my

PWI-HL TW videos forum link:

(<http://pwi-forum.perfectworld.com/showthread.php?t=323982>) <http://pwi-forum.per...world.com/showt>
(<http://pwi-forum.perfectworld.com/showt>)... p?t=323982 (here's a link \(http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jj-e3E\_m0DU&fmt=22\) to one of the latest)

~Keripo (IGN will probably be Noblesse)

Got someone willing to vouch for you, but I'd like to talk to you first. MSN me.

---

Mystic

Posted 04 October 2010 - 04:55 PM

---

Accepted.

Page 1 of 1

Community Forum Software by IP.Board 3.1.2

Cethin skin by Eric Colon.

yo